La Sorbonne opens between 10 am and 5'30 pm

The rectorat of Paris and the Chancellerie des universités express their deep gratitude to the Paris schools of art which were kind enough to lend them their students' works of art for the seventh consecutive year.

With the kind contribution of Musique en Sorbonne, Choir and Orchestra of Paris-Sorbonne University.

Since the 13th century, the name Sorbonne has conjured up for the whole world the image of one of the most prestigious centres of intelligence and culture, of science and of the arts, of an age-old knowledge that spans the centuries and one that resounds to this day with the promise of excellence.

Housing the rectorat d'académie (education authority of Paris) and the chancellerie des universités de Paris, it is also home today to several internationally-renowned institutions of higher education.
