The Académie main building, the chapel and some of the most beautiful amphitheatres of the Sorbonne open their doors especially for the European Heritage Days.

Located in the heart of the Latin Quarter, the Sorbonne was one of the medieval colleges of the University of Paris but the name now refers to the whole university. It is now the seat of the Rectorat of the Académie de Paris and it still houses higher education and research institutions which attract students and professors from all over the world.

Arts and Entertainment is this year's theme. The Sorbonne, as a renowned centre of knowledge and learning, offers outstanding courses in the field of the arts and entertainment: drama, music or visual arts studies. Its architectural and artistic wonders provide an extraordinary setting for many cultural events such as the performances and projects which are presented by pupils of the Académie during the European Heritage Days!

All weekend from 10 am to 5 pm***

New in 2019 – “To great women, the grateful Sorbonne” 8

For the first time, come and discover the portraits of seven illustrious women commissioned by the Rectorat to Christian Guémy, aka C215, a famous stencil artist.

Exhibition - Work of the students of the vocational schools and art schools in Paris 1 2 6

Come and enjoy the work of young artists and craftsmen who learn their remarkable skills in the fields of fashion, decorative arts, fine arts, watchmaking and eyewear making in the art schools of the Académie.

Exhibition - History of French academic dress 12

Discover the evolution of the French academic dress, from the Middle Ages to the present day, and learn about the symbolic meaning of each of its items.

Documentary exhibition – La Sorbonne, from university drama clubs to drama studies 2

Learn how, between 1915 and 1970, the University of Paris relied on university drama clubs to usher in drama studies as a new field of academic study.

Exhibition – Reading Ovid’s *Metamorphoses 19

The Sorbonne inter-university Library System presents an exhibition of books about the Metamorphoses by the Latin poet Ovid, including rare editions dating back to the 16th century.

* last admission: 5 pm

Saturday, 21st September, 2019

Conference on Heritage - History at La Sorbonne, La Sorbonne Stories

The Rectorat of the Académie de Paris

Paris is the only Académie – i.e. regional education area – which is made up of only one département. It extends over the whole capital city and has a specific organization. The Recteur – i.e. the Chancellor of the Académie de Paris – is supported by the director of the Académie de Paris who is responsible for primary and secondary education, from kindergarten to the baccalauréate, and by a vice-chancellor of the universities of Paris who is in charge of higher education. The Recteur of the Académie de Paris is also the Recteur of the Île-de-France Region school educational area and the Chancellor of all Paris universities.

The Chancellery of the universities of Paris

The Chancellery is a public institution whose role is to manage university property in Paris and in the two other Île-de-France académies (Créteil and Versailles), especially undivided assets common to all the universities that are the inheritors of the original University of Paris. Another of its missions is to support student and research activities through various initiatives: awarding prizes, scholarships and grants to individual students or whole university research teams; implementing scholars-in-residence programs and improving the living conditions of French and foreign students.

Thanks

The Rectorat of the Académie de Paris and the Chancellery of the universities of Paris would like to thank all the people and partners, as well as the Rectorat and Chancellery staff, who played a part in and helped organize the 2019 European Heritage Days.
